

HE HAD A BIG HEART

This Man's Organ Weighed Four Pounds And Two Ounces

IT HAD CROWDED OUT ONE LUNG

Owner of It Died in the New York Tombs in Which He Had Been Lodged to Await Trial for Embezzlement.

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, March 30.—The largest human heart ever found was discovered today at an autopsy on the body of Bainbridge O. Stafford, who died last night in the Tombs prison. The organ weighed four pounds and two ounces, the normal weight of a human heart being about twelve to fourteen ounces. Stafford was arrested on a charge of perjury preferred by Brice & Company of Baltimore, who alleged the conversion of stock valued at $1,000. His death was caused by a combination of lobar pneumonia, cardiac hypertrophy and chronic nephritis. The left lung was almost entirely shriveled up, the heart occupying nearly all the space which the lung should have had. The heart will be placed in the museum of the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Health in the Canal Zone.

The high wages paid make it a mighty temptation to our young artisans to join the force of skilled workmen needed to construct the Panama Canal. Many are restrained however by the fear of fevers and malaria. It is the knowing ones—those who have used Electric Bitters—who go there without this fear, well knowing they are safe from malarial influence with Electric Bitters on hand. Cures blood poison too, biliousness, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Guaranteed by Ideal Pharmacy, 50c.
